

"Writing and revising a book over a seventeen year period feels like raising a child. It has brought great joy and sometimes real challenges. My work is finished and it is time to give it independence in the world. I believe you will enjoy Quivering on the Brink as well as find parts of it a challenge. But, most of all I know you will find the tools needed to enhance your life."

Mary Livingston has studied The Urantia Book for more than twenty years. Much of her writings have been translated into foreign languages. Mrs. Livingston has two grown children and currently lives in California with her husband.
