

UNIVERSAL LAWS OF ATTRACTION

*"If you believe you can or you believe you can't...
you are right."*

Attributed to Henry Ford

Section One giving you an immediate start on practical application for attraction is very shallow in its presentation of the Laws of Attraction. I highly recommend the book by Jerry and Esther Hicks called the Laws of Attraction for an in depth study.

Here though is a summary of many texts, all of which parallel the teachings of Abraham in their book.

Remember this concept THOUGHTS ARE THINGS. All of your thoughts are transformed into reality around you. Luckily for us in our human dimension, as opposed to the higher universal dimensions, transformation usually takes a little time. If our thoughts were instantaneously manifested we could get into a great deal of trouble.

What if you were angry, and you thought "I wish her body wasn't so slim!", in a jealous thought about a love rival. Then that person instantly grew fat! You would have violated a prime law of Free Will as well as doing something you would regret later, when you observed the pain you caused. The same could be done to you!

Since such is not the speed of manifestation is a good thing. However, there are other rules that are instant after a fashion. It is important to recognize them in your understanding of the Laws of Attraction.

First, if you desire to attract something ... anything... the power of the Universe will indeed give it to you! EVERYTHING. However, like the mythical magic lamp and Genie you must be specific or you may get what you desire in a form you did not intend!

For example: You desire a green sports car. You do everything in your power to imagine yourself driving a green sports car.

The Universe provides it a month later when you are unfortunately outside a bank when it is being robbed and you are forced to drive a green sports car as a getaway vehicle! You are captured and charged with assisting a bank heist!

You did get to drive a green sports car didn't you?

Or perhaps you want a beautiful blond woman to be your next love interest. She shows up and is perfect in every way.... physically ... but, after a few weeks you discover she loves to "play the field", and you are not hers exclusively.

In both instances you were not specific in your thoughts for attraction of what you desire.

Or perhaps you were and did not pay attention.

What if the green sports car was coupled with a desire for excitement? OR what if the desire for the blond was coupled with a fear of someone who would 'cheat' on you?

The positive desire and the negative non-desire are BOTH actually POSITIVE requests to the power of the Universal Laws for manifestation.

The reason for this is what you learned in Section I. What you focus on with attention creates. FEAR of anything is a form of focusing your attention on something.

If you intend not to have it ... the Law of Attraction gives it to you because you are giving it ATTENTION!

This is why so many unwanted things happen to everyone. They CREATE unconsciously through fear.

The Godlike powers you can utilize within the Laws of Attraction are always POSITIVE in manifestation allowing you to learn from experiencing.

Just because you don't want something or you fear something or perhaps you dislike something does not mean you will not create it. Quite the opposite. YOU WILL ATTRACT THE EXPERIENCE because you are paying attention to the negative thought form.

The proper way to NOT attract something into your life is to NOT pay attention to IT. Don't care about IT. Don't fear IT. Don't look for IT.

Here's an example we've all had at one time or another:

You're somewhere you are having a good time. Someone you see that you don't like or don't want to see right now appears as if by magic. No sooner do you recognize them then they turn and come right to you! You may have thought this was all coincidence. UNIVERSAL RULES: There are no coincidences!

Previous thoughts about this person brought them to you... you can't hide from your own creations.

EVERYTHING in your life will come to you in some form... AND ... you ALLOW it to manifest by continuing the thoughts, rather than letting them go.

You want to see the worst kind of relationship manifest? Hold on to previous bad experiences and fear they may repeat.

THEY WILL.
